TO PROTECT
CITY

ELYRIA, Feb. 12.—"Big Bill" Lucas has been chosen by the Chamber of Commerce to organize a squad of minute men to help protect the city against hold-up men and burglars. The squad will operate under direction of Police Chief Stankard.

LEWIS MOTOR COMPANY
INDEBTED TO PRINTER

ELYRIA, Feb. 12.—The swan song was sung over all that is mortal of the Lewis Motor Manufacturing Company today, when a bailiff from Justice Hughes court proceeded to dispose of the office furniture owned by the company.

The Century Print Shop Company alleged that the Lewis Motor Company was indebted to it the sum of $134.84 for printing and stationery.

The sample motor which has been on exhibition at the Elyria Hotel has been attached not to the transmission and it is possible that this particular type of motor will not be manufactured in this city in the near future.

SEVEN CHILDREN
DIE IN OHIO
FLAMES

COLUMBUS, Feb. 12.—Seven children, ranging in age from 18 months to three years, were burned to death in Ohio in the last three weeks, while alone at home, records of State Fire Marshal Dykeman showed.

Added impetus to Marshal Dykeman's announcement this week that he would seek passage of a law making it a felony to leave children alone without proper safeguards, will be given by the tragedies, it is believed.

Five of the children met their deaths since Jan. 26; two were burned to death January 20. The fire marshal's records show these tragedies:

On January 20, Raymond Jackson, aged three years, and Wayman Jackson, 18 months old, were burned to death, while alone at home at Akron. An oil stove was the cause.

January 26, Kenneth Baker, aged two years, was left alone, according to the marshal and burned to death, when his nightgown caught fire from an overheated slack burner.

On January 29, Ralph Wein-gardner, aged two years, of near Akron, upset a lamp while alone in the house, and crawled under a bed, burning to death.

February 8, Irene, aged four, and Julia, aged two, Goodwin, died in each other's arms, when their mother left them alone, in what officials say was a locked room.

Twenty-eight persons have perished in Ohio by fire in the last three weeks, and 14 others were injured, the records show. Six of the dead were Columbus residents and another died here.

"These figures tend to make everyone think seriously about allowing carelessness to take such a frightful toll of human lives," Mr. Dykeman declared. "The records show more than one death a day from fire, ninety per cent of which are due to carelessness."

HAMLIN CASE
DISMISSED
BY COURT

Trial Held Yesterday at Sandusky, Result Vindicates Local Attorney

ELYRIA, Feb. 12.—The case of the State of Ohio against Attorney L. D. Hamlin, charged with adultery, on a warrant sworn out by his wife, was held in Sandusky yesterday, where the alleged offense was said to have been committed at a Sandusky hotel.

Attorneys Lee Strout, Anthony Nieding and F. A. Stetson represented Mr. Hamlin, and F. M. Stevens was Mrs. Hamlin's attorney.

The case was heard in municipal court and took most of the day. It resulted in Mr. Hamlin's being discharged on the ground of lack of evidence. The policeman who made the arrest stated that the room in which Mr. Hamlin was had not been disturbed and that he could see nothing wrong about it.

The numerous volunteer witnesses for the defendant did not have an opportunity to testify although much disappointment was expressed by them on that account. Mr. Hamlin says that the whole affair originated in a conspiracy to injure his good name and business interests and to further the prospects of those concerned in the outcome of the divorce case recently brought by his wife where in she asks for a large amount of alimony.

THREE 'Y. W.'
WORKERS
QUIT

Exodus of Workers at Elyria Association Causes Much Comment Among Young People

The rank of workers at the local Y. W. C. A. are greatly depleted owing to the resignation of Miss Katherine Tuck, the general secretary, Miss Grace Cole, physical director, and Miss Mary Newland, girls' work secretary.

The trouble, if trouble there was, has been kept within the session of the board of managers who will give no statement concerning the reason for the resignation of these secretaries, but in confirming the rumor, Mrs. H. M. Miller, president of the board said "Miss Tuck and her assistant, have gone to Cleveland to accept positions." No, we have no others, as yet in view, to fill the vacancies, but expect within a short time, to have a most competent staff, although at the present time the offices and departments are, not being neglected.

Mrs. Willard, the matron, is back at the association and Miss Robbins and the other workers are handling the situation in a most satisfactory manner.

CAPTAIN PRINGLE, NEAR
EAST WORKER, TO SPEAK
SUNDAY AT ST. ANDREWS

Captain Pringle who was a chaplain in the great war is a clergyman of the Episcopal church and has already made many friends in Elyria.

Many who have already heard a message from him, will gladly welcome a second opportunity while those who have not been so fortunate, may take advantage of this privilege.

The choir, under the direction of Mr. Anderson, will sing music that will be appreciated and all are sure to be pleased. Without question a large congregation is anticipated at this service which will begin at 10:45.

JOCKEY RIDES TWO HORSES IN ONE RACE

(By International News Service) GATWICK, England, Feb. 12.—Stubbs, a well-known cross-country jockey, who used to ride as an amateur, was in the back of two horses in the Leatherhead "Chase" at Gatwick.

Six animals had arrived, but only three ran. Odds were first laid on Menlo, but eventually he became an even money chance. The second favorite, Pizzier II, fell at the first fence on the far side, and Menlo was in hopeless difficulties two fences from home.

Seeing Dunn, the rider of Old Brandy, on the ground Stubbs, who had fallen on Pizzier II, jumped into the saddle and completed the course. Old Brandy was thus placed second by the judge.

CHAMBER PLANS
ACTIVITIES
FOR YEAR

Will Publish a War History for Lorain County, Showing Work of Draft Board and Giving Complete List of Men Who Took Part in War

ELYRIA, Feb. 12.—The board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce met last night and outlined a tentative program for the coming year's activities.

Among the plans discussed was a new library building as outlined by the Woman's Civic club. The civic committee of the Chamber will work in conjunction with them.

They also discussed the plan of extending and beautifying the entrances to Cascade park, and the prospect of building a new hotel for the city.

Another matter given attention was a second boulevard between Elyria and Lorain. It was decided that during the year the Chamber would publish a book showing the activities of Elyria Draft Board in district No. 2, being a complete war history, giving a list of all enlisted and drafted men and interesting facts concerning their activities. It will be a valuable reference work that will be much prized by those who are fortunate enough to secure one. C. E. Lozier was elected president and Thomas Cook, treasurer of Elyria division of the National Chamber of Commerce.

LABOR REORGANIZATION
DEMANDED BY GERMANS

BERLIN, Feb. 12.—"We are going to London not to accept the allies' dictation, but to make an offer which will not be a small one either," declared Minister of Finance Wirth in a speech before the Bremen chamber of commerce, dealing with German indemnity, according to advices from Bremen today.

The finance minister was quoted further as saying: "For the purpose of carrying out our offer, there must be the most complete reorganization of labor in Germany."

"America must participate with the industrial leaders of the whole world gather about the conference table. If all countries do not cooperate the best plans will remain only theories."

The German delegation will leave late this month for London, where the indemnity conference will open March 1.

QUITE AN ARRAY OF BITTERS
CONFISCATED BY PATROLMEN

George Beavor, of West Broad Street, Will be Called Upon to Explain Why He Failed to Obey Orders Issued by Police Department—Strange Liquor Being Analyzed

ELYRIA, Feb. 12.—An early morning raid on George Beavor's soft drink emporium on West Broad street this morning netted an array of evidence which would credit to a patent medicine establishment.

Eight or ten different varieties of bitters were confiscated, together with two bottles containing suspicious liquids, which from the odor and taste ought to check up pretty high in alcohol.

The city chemist will analyze these beverages, but the bitters are admitted to contain anywhere from five or six to 18 per cent alcohol by volume, this information being printed on the label according to law.

Captain Meyers, Sweet, Kray and Waldron conducted the raid and also picked up Johnny Herbert of Lorain, a railroad brakeman, who was charged with being a suspicious character.

FORD EXPLAINS
HIS ATTITUDE
TOWARD JEWS

Says Jewish Bankers Must be Stopped From Furnishing Money to Finance War Before World Peace Will Come

DETROIT, Mich., Feb. 12.—Henry Ford has broken his silence regarding his anti-Jewish propaganda that has been running in his paper.

Briefly he states that his reason was "to promote world peace." He denies that he is anti-Semitic, for he has 5,000 Jews in his employ. He states he wants to arouse the Gentiles to make them display the same energy as the Jews. He desires to have the Jews co-operate with the Gentiles to bring about world peace, and therefore exposed so-called Jewish propaganda. "There can be no world peace until the international Jewish bankers cease providing money for wars," he declares. "To bring about world peace the Gentiles must be awakened and these Jewish bankers must be stopped from financing armament. In fact world peace is intimately connected with the sort of thing we have been exposing," he said.

They also discussed the plan of extending and beautifying the entrances to Cascade park, and the prospect of building a new hotel for the city.

Another matter given attention was a second boulevard between Elyria and Lorain. It was decided that during the year the Chamber would publish a book showing the activities of Elyria Draft Board in district No. 2, being a complete war history, giving a list of all enlisted and drafted men and interesting facts concerning their activities. ASKS DISMISSAL
OF THE NEELY
TESTIMONY

Judge To Pass On Admissibility Of Any Evidence Given By Miss Mary Neely, in McGannon trial

CLEVELAND, Feb. 12.—When court convenes on Monday, Judge Homer G. Fowles will pass upon the admissibility of any of the evidence given by Miss Mary E. Neely whose refusal to answer questions pronounced by the state yesterday in the trial of William H. McGannon, charged with having fired the shot which killed his friend, Harold C. Kacy, completely upset the plans of the prosecution.

Attorney W. H. Boyd, chief counsel for the defense, insists that her entire testimony should be thrown out, while Prosecutor Edward C. Stanton believes that it should be permitted to go to jury for what it is worth.

Beyond asserting that he would see that if there was any perjury committed by witnesses that it would be punished by swift prosecution, the state's counsel refused to comment upon the unusual situation.

Attorney W. H. Boyd this morning told the International News Service that plans of the defense were undetermined, in view of the unexpected attitude of the state's chief witness.

"It but confirms my view that the stories told by many witnesses for the prosecution were 'fairy tales,'" he declared.

"Judge McGannon will testify in his own defense," he was asked.

"That goes without saying," he replied. "Whether we will find it necessary to call all witnesses under subpoena is doubtful however. The state has not yet called either Cass or Wilson, main witnesses in the former trial. Whether they will do so, I do not know. Our plans depend upon their action."

Prosecutor Stanton indicated that the state would probably close its case Monday afternoon.

ASKS COURT TO DISMISS CASE

ELYRIA, Feb. 12.—Prosecuting Attorney Webber has filed his reply to the third amended petition in the case of Ohio ex-re Mathew B. McKean, against the board of education of Laton township. McKean is endeavoring to mandamus the school board to compel them to open up a school in the district where McKean lives. The court is asked to dismiss the third petition, on the ground that it does not contain a cause of action.

LORAIN, Feb. 12.—Lorain Police late today was scouring South Lorain district in an effort to locate the wounded man.

At 9:00 they arrested a man who answered the description of the wounded man. He was placed before Sergeant Wm. Murphy who said he was not the man who shot him last night.

Police here have surrounded that district with shot guns and rifles and are searching every house in the territory to locate the bandit. Every police man is at work on this case.

Moldorvan the man that was shot through the lungs by the bandit, cannot live but a few hours, according to St. Joseph's hospital authorities.

LORAIN, Feb. 12.—Within a period of five minutes late last night in South Lorain three men were shot, including a policeman, another man attempted to commit suicide, by cutting his throat with a razor, and three hold-ups occurred.

The entire local police force was quickly out the scenes with rifles and shotguns. Two of the men are in the hospital, one of the alleged highwaymen is believed to be dying.

In the battle with the hold-up men Petrolman William A. Murphy was shot in the forehead. One of the highwaymen who is believed to have been shot several times, made his escape.

Bandit Opens Fire At 10 o'clock last night, police authorities were notified that a holdup man was in the vicinity of East 28th street and Oakwood avenue and had already held up two men.

Every policeman available was dispatched with rifles and shotguns for the scene.

As the police automobiles arrived at 28th street and Oakwood avenue, the officers saw the bandit in the act of holding up Daniel Moldorvan (30 years of age, 2119 East 29th street, in the rear of 2104 East 28th street. Sergeant William Murphy was the first officer to approach the bandit.

Murphy ordered the man to throw up his hands. At this time Moldorvan turned his back on the bandit and started to run in the direction of Murphy. As the man lowered his hands the alleged bandit started shooting. One bullet entered Moldorvan's right side just below the armpit and traveled through both lungs. Moldorvan dropped in the snow.

Sergeant Murphy by this time was but about 25 feet from the bandit. The hold-up man opened fire on the police officer. One bullet grazed his forehead, just over the left eye, knocking the policeman down.

Must Have Mistaken Likeness of
Mayor Jones for Abraham Lincoln

ELYRIA, Feb. 12.—Considerable excitement prevailed at the city hall this morning, when it was discovered that the life sized likeness of Mayor A. R. Jones, which adorns the council chamber, had been draped in deep mourning.

Clerk of the council Dan Symons, was hurriedly summoned from a staff meeting of the young ladies employed in the building and officials announced that the mayor was very much alive and that some near sighted person must have mistaken the picture of "hizzoner" for that of Lincoln and had endeavored to honor the memory of the famous American, whose birthday day anniversary is being observed today.

Later on it developed that one of the departments had conducted a house cleaning bee and among the discarded material consigned to the refuse heap was this identical piece of crapo was last seen in close proximity to a certain city councilman who evidently is partial to black for decorative effects.

COULD CREATE BIG SAVING

That the consolidation of governmental work is one of the most vital labors of Congress should be given serious consideration. That this will not be an easy task is readily understood when one considers that efforts at reform will meet with concerted effort to block it by those, who live, or profit thereby. As a demonstration of the process through which the federal government moves in the building and designing of a structure is evidenced by the following.

- The supervising architect.
- The coast guard.
- The health service.
- The corps of engineers.
- The construction division of the army.
- The superintendent of prisons.
- The land office.
- The bureau of Indian affairs.
- The reclamation service.
- The bureau of mines.
- The national park service.
- The bureau of buildings and grounds.
- The forest service.
- The bureau of soils.
- The bureau of plant industry.
- The bureau of animal industry.
- The Alaskan engineering commission.
- The weather bureau.
- The bureau of standards.
- The fisheries bureau.
- The lighthouse bureau.
- The bureau of immigration.
- The Panama canal commission.
- The shipping board.
- The housing corporation.
- The state, war and navy building commission.

Inasmuch as these bureaus, commissions and boards are either always building or trying to get buildings they must have their building experts, their clerks and workmen and draughtsmen. And these experts, clerks, draughtsmen and others must be paid for their services, duplicated scores of times over. Therein lies the reason for some of the difficulties of getting the better of the war debt, preventing heaping up the burden of taxes, stopping the eternal nagging at tax-payers and checking the downward trend of prices.

No Congress has had the courage to reorganize the government business with naught but efficiency in view. Yet their are millions of people in the United States who feel that the greatest possible economic venture in which the members of the house could engage, is along the lines of banishment of red tape, thereby creating economics that would net the citizens fabulous sums within a very short period.

LLOYD GEORGE A CANDIDATE

According to the London Times Lloyd George will submit his political fortunes to the decision of a general election basing his test of public confidence on a budget of two billion dollars as the government's requirements of this year. The nation's expenditures have been cut to the bone. Taxes are to be lowered, and costs of living are to be reduced, and evidently Lloyd George believes that he can be returned to power on the wave of gratitude that will result from his trimming of expenses combined with the comfortable lead in Parliamentary supporters that he now enjoys.

His opposition will come from the forces that are suffering from the aftermath of the war, radical labor elements, Irish revolution sympathizers, and the political group that distrust the coalition governments. It is safe to presume that the premier bases his hopes of re-election on the reduction of the weight of the burden of taxes, which will cause many to stand by him that would otherwise have been against him.

Somebody might whisper to Gen. Debs that abusing Wilson is not likely to increase his chances for a pardon from Harding—if he has any.

However, the verdict of acquittal in a Kansas City murder trial, based on a preacher-juryman's dream, is not a safe precedent.

Voice Of The People

Elyria, O., Feb. 10, 1921.

Editor:

Dear Sir:—I am very much interested in the work of Mr. Edison as published in your paper, and feel he is working on known facts to a great many people. I have experienced communications such as he speaks of, only through a common plain trumpet in our family circle in our own home, held only for a earnest investigation.

The Seance was carried on mostly by a little girl about ten years old. She seemed to be the medium which the forces worked through and for. The trumpet was placed on the table in the center of the room, with a small music box and a guitar. The room was made dark and we all took hold of hands and sat around the table. The little girl started a song and the rest joined in. Soon there came a voice from the trumpet, and the music box and guitar commenced to play. The voice from the trumpet was very weak at first, but became stronger and we asked many questions. We did not get much satisfaction as to the future life from the trumpet. We got different voices to know much outside of this earth and our surroundings. The trumpet voices told us some things that came true afterwards. The little girl was very delicate and it made her very weak, she did not live many years. I honestly think there are a great many people who can get the same results if they just get together and have a circle for earnest investigation. And I do think Mr. Edison will succeed in his communications, and if he does there is no reason why with his method he can not voice telephatic messages from the living to the living. For it is the subjective mind that receives telephatic messages in the brain, and the subjective mind of hands and enters the future life at death.

Hoping you will find space in your paper, I remain,

Respectfully yours,

C. ETINGER, N. D. S. F., R. D. 1, Elyria, O.

X-RAYS

The other day,
I was visiting a doctor,
And while I was there
A mutual friend came in
Who was suffering from nerves.
Before he left the place
The doctor said to him,
"Jack," (that isn't his name),
'Why don't you read
'Science and Health,'
By Mrs. Eddy."
"No, I was not joking,"
Said the doctor to me,
"I am positively certain
That there's nothing the matter
With that fellow."
No, he is not shamming;
He thinks he's sick
And the only thing
That will cure his trouble
Is the use of his brains.
In 'Science and Health'
There are some good passages,
The very thoughts
That our friend needs."
And then the doctor told me
That a large percentage
Of "sick" people
Are as well as can be.
Somehow or other
They get the idea
That they are sick,
And it's a mighty hard job
To get that idea
Out of their minds.
Medicine can't cure
When there's nothing to cure,
Dieting and exercise
Won't help a bit—
It's just a question
Of so filling their minds
With some other thoughts
That there's no room left
For sick ideas.

ELYRIA, Feb. 12.—Otto Hess, assistant chief of the local fire department, enjoyed a trip to Niagara Falls, last night. At least he dreamed he was there and he proceeded to tell his fellow firemen all about the big waterfall while they were eating breakfast this morning.

He said he was viewing the scenery from the deck of the "Maid of the Mist," the little steamer which permits visitors to the falls to secure a close-up of the volume of water as it plunges from the ledge of the rock above, and could actually feel the cool spray from the stream, striking him in the face.

Before Hess could enjoy a trip around the gorge, he was awakened from his dream only to discover that the roof of the fire station had sprung a leak and that his face was in direct line with the precipitation.

CHINESE MAIDENS WILL SHOW NEW YORKERS HOW TO UNWIND COCOONS AND SPIN SILK FLOSS

China, the original home of sericulture, has sent a Silk Mission to attend the International Silk Exposition at New York. This is surely linking past and present for according to the native records of China, silk culture dates from a very remote period. The Lady of Si-ling who was Empress in 2640 B. C. did much to advance the industry, caring for silk-worms with her own hands. Tradition also credits her with having invented the loom for weaving the silken threads.

Great strides have been made through the ages in the matter of spinning or reeling the cocoons, in the standardization of raw silk and in weaving the floss, but the silk-worm lives and dies and spins his burial shroud—the precious cocoon—in the same old leisurely way he did 5,000 years ago.

However, new methods of preserving eggs and caring for the silkworms have been discovered. To-day there are countless millions of silk-worms kept in cold storage. When needed they are taken from storage, subjected to a uniform temperature of 70 degrees F. until hatched. Then ensues a busy time—the feeding time. Mulberry leaves, young, tender and finely chopped, are fed seven times a day for the first month, at the end of which the worm goes into the first of his five stages. Feedings are diminished between sleeps. At the end of the feedings and sleepings Mr. Worm spins a cocoon about himself.

At the proper stage the cocoons are collected and the pupae killed to prevent its further development. These expert silk reeler, who will form temperature of 70 degrees F. until hatched. The cocoons are soaked and then unwound and reeled by deft fingered girls, the resultant product being raw silk floss which is exported in great quantities. Many precious cargoes of silk come into Vancouver harbor by way of the Empress of Russia, that wonderful ocean greyhound which brought on its last trip from the Orient the Chinese Silk Mission, including three expert silk reeler, who will form temperature of 70 degrees F. until hatched. That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid liver.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

"If you have a 'dark brown mouth'—a bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick cadache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

As a prelude, Dr. Neighbour will discuss, from the Bible standpoint, communication with the dead, having special reference to Thomas A. Edison's proposed invention.

Over three million European children are being saved from death this winter by American help; forty million Chinese are being aided to survive a famine period.

Is America saving lives for another European generation, devoted to continental dissipation and selfishness, ready to plunge the world again into war? Is America saving lives in China for continued ignorance and squalor?

A LIFE is only saved, either AT HOME or ABROAD when nourishment of the body is joined with Christian education.

OBERLIN NEWS

SPEAKERS MAY BE SECURED
IN OBERLINOBERLIN CLUBS
AND SOCIETIES

OBERLIN, Feb. 12.—Speakers in the interest of China's famine relief fund may be secured by churches and other organizations from the American missionaries to China who are spending winters here at Oberlin, from the native Chinese students at the college, and from members of the Volunteer Band of students who have themselves for foreign mission service.

OBERLIN GLEE CLUB
WILL GIVE PROGRAM
ON SATURDAY NIGHT

OBERLIN, Feb. 12.—The Oberlin College Glee club which won new laurels in its recent concert tour through the east, is to appear in its annual home concert in Finney chapel on Saturday night, Feb. 19. The recent concert work of the club made it possible for the Oberlin organization to be compared with similar musical organizations from eastern colleges and universities, and Oberlin did not suffer one whit on account of such comparisons.

The patrons are assured a fine treat, and from the very unusual amount of interest being shown in the event it is quite probable that those who plan to attend the concert should make arrangements early for their tickets and reservations.

CHINESE STUDENT IS HURT IN ACCIDENT

OBERLIN, Feb. 12.—S. F. Lin, a Chinese student here, was injured by an automobile Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Lin was riding a bicycle on East College street, when a new automobile which was being delivered by an agent to Dr. S. E. Miller came from the east. The driver soured his horn and Mr. Lin who was riding on the left side of the road turned in front of the car. He was knocked off and thrown under the machine.

ROD AND GUN CLUB TO HOLD 'LADIES' NIGHT

OBERLIN, Feb. 12.—Wednesday evening, February 23, has been chosen as the night for the annual "Ladies' Night" of the Rod and Gun club. The dinner will be served in the parlors of the Second church by the Methodist ladies, after which the program of toasts will be heard. Chief Game Protector A. C. Baxter has telegraphed his hearty acceptance of the invitation to be present and speak. Ex-Mayor Meyer, president of the State Board of Agriculture, of Akron is also on the program and President Frank Wilford of the Elvira club. Non. George Warner from Wellington, and others will be on the program.

Following the program at the dinner, the guests will adjourn to the newly made theatre in Sturges hall, where a three-act play series will be given by Professor Jelliffe—seven actors taking part.

The social committee of the club feel that the ladies will be well pleased with the evening planned for their entertainment. The stunts of past years have set rather high marks to meet or to pass, but this year at least the ladies will not be asked to assist in the work of the evening.

There are no conflicts on this date of other meetings and therefore it is hoped that all who can will come. Sturges hall, however, seats only about two hundred and thirty, and therefore the early ticket buyers will be those assured of attendance.

OBERLIN AUTO CLUB
SELECTS OFFICERS

OBERLIN, Feb. 12.—The Oberlin Automobile club has organized by electing H. F. Smith, president, E. E. Burgher, vice-president and J. N. Stone, secretary and treasurer for the coming year. An appeal is made to members to pay their dues which are $2.00 for the year. The club has installed two warning signs at the East College street crossing and will put in two at the South Main street crossing.

OBERLIN WILL GIVE
FATHER-SON BANQUET

OBERLIN, Feb. 12.—A concerted effort is being made by the men's brotherhoods or classes of all the churches to see that every boy of twelve years and over has an invitation to the Father and Son dinner on January 17, at the James Brand House. Tickets were given out last Sunday to captains at each church in Oberlin.

The sale of tickets is limited to three hundred on account of the limited capacity of James Brand house. Men are urged to buy their tickets early.

It is the intention of the committee "arranging the dinner to make certain that every boy eligible to attend is invited. Information that some boy is being overlooked will be very gratefully received by A. G. Comings at Comings book store and provision made for the boys' attendance.

The program of stunts will be furnished by college students under the direction of Prof. P. D. Sherman. The unique feature of previous years of having men who have won their "O" in athletics act as waiters and wear their "O's" will again take place this year.

Besides the address by Professor Thomas Graham, there will be short talks by Rev. F. W. Smith, Rev. J. L. Longbriger, and a high school boy whose name will be announced later.

PREACHER DISAPPEARS WITH "SPIRITUAL" RATHER THAN "MATERIAL" VAMPIRE

The charges of Mrs. Beatrice Wheatley, alleging that her husband, the Rev. Charles A. Wheatley, of the Warner Street Spiritual church, had eloped with Mrs. Loretta Trifon, an attractive member of his church, have created a sensation in San Francisco. Mrs. Wheatley alleges that Mrs. Trifon, bargained for her husband by means of a diabolic written in the back of a divan book during church services, confessing love for the preacher and promising to give him a better home and material advantages in life. Upon investigation, following the disappearance of Rev. Wheatley, Mrs. Trifon was found at her home with her husband and three children, which added to the mystery of the alleged "elopement." Mrs. Trifon denies having written the strange love confession in the diabolic book, claiming, it is said, that it must have been the "spirits" guided by the hand of Rev. Wheatley. Mrs. Trifon, finding herself in the role of "spiritual vampire," is so grieved that she has decided to forsake spiritualism forever.

WHY PRINCETON SCHOOL LIMITS ENROLLMENT

(By International News Service.)
PRINCETON, N. J., Feb. 12.—President Hibben, of Princeton, in his annual report has given out statistics which forced the university to restrict its enrollment.

"Our dormitories have a capacity for accommodating 1,275 students. The new dormitories contemplated could take care of an additional 400 students, making a total dormitory capacity of 1,675 students, which possibly be increased to 1,725 or 1,750, but if the undergraduate student body were limited to 2,000 there would still be upward of 250 men rooming off the campus even after the new dormitories are built.

"The dining halls have a present capacity based on existing kitchen facilities for feeding 1,200 students. With an estimated undergraduate student body of 2,000 men, this would leave 800 men to be taken care of by the upper class clubs. This indicates an average of fifty men to a club—fifty is, twenty-five juniors and twenty-five seniors—which is a larger number than some of the clubs could accommodate."

Wounded Bandit

Officer Gets Help
As Murphy lay in the snow, Lieutenant Frank Park ran up and opened fire on the bandit. The man returned the shots and three bullets sped past Park's head. The bandit then turned and fled down the alley towards Palm avenue. Murphy regained his feet and entered the chase.

Bark and Patrolman Edgar Spore ran after the man, firing shots at him.

As the man neared Palm street he was seen to stagger, and turn towards East 29th street.

Spore outdistanced Lieutenant Park, and gained on the running bandit. As the hold-up man reached a spot in front of 2320 East 29th street, Spore took steady aim and fired.

The bandit fell to the walk, his revolver falling in the snow. Spore carried the man onto the porch of the house at the above address. Thinking the man unconscious, Spore went into the house to telephone for an ambulance to take the man to the hospital.

Body Disappears
When Spore came out of the house, the bandit had disappeared. A pool of blood found at the spot where the man had fallen proved that the policeman's bullet had found its mark.

The man was not seen after this incident.

Police officers searched every foot of the surrounding territory for hours but were unsuccessful in locating the bandit.

These Park and Spore emptied their revolvers in answer to shots from the hold-up man.

The running gun fight between the bandit and the police lasted for an entire block, between Oakwood avenue and Palm avenue.

Moldorvan was found in the him into the soft drink place at 2104 East 28th street. There he sat in a chair until the Fey and Royce's ambulance arrived and conveyed him to St. Joseph's hospital.

Shot Thru Lungs
At the hospital Dr. Bert Garver removed the bullet which was just under the skin on the right side of his chest, having passed through both lungs.

Police are of the opinion that the lone bandit was taken into some house in the vicinity and given shelter, thereby thwarting their efforts to locate him.

The wound on Murphy's head was not serious, the bullet merely grazing the skin. The shock of the bullet, however, knocked him down.

Was Second Holding
According to the woman who told police last night, she first saw the bandit holding up an old man at the corner of East 28th street and Oakwood avenue. After robbing the man she said the bandit then took him into a soft drink place and bought him a drink. It was while the bandit was buying his victim a drink that she notified the police.

Police arrived on the scene in but a few minutes and caught the man in the act of holding up his second victim.

Police believe that the lone bandit is one of the four bandits who early yesterday morning held up Mike Terko, 1925 E. 29th street, at East 28th street and Clinton avenue. In this holdup, the bandits secured $168.20.

LORAIN, Feb. 12.—Lorain today is reported as improved today. Police officers today killed three wild cats in their crusade to wipe out all felines afflicted with a dreaded disease which crazes them and causes them to attack pedestrians.

Haunted by Wierd Dreams Lorainite Attempts Suicide

FRANK BARDI, 35, HAD EVIL DREAMS FOR SEVERAL NIGHTS AND DECIDES TO END IT ALL BY SLASHING HIS THROAT

LORAIN, Feb. 12.—Frank Bardi, aged 35, 1542 East 31st court, is lying in St. Joseph's hospital in a dying condition after having attempted to end his own life last night by cutting his throat with a razor in his room, after he had told his boarding mistress, Mrs. Mary Chisna, that he had been haunted by bad dreams for several nights past and was determined to stop the dreams by ending his life.

Room-mate Horrified.
Bardi was found lying on his bed in his room by his room-mate, Joe Trely, who was returning from a picture show at about 9 o'clock. As he went upstairs to his room he saw blood running from beneath Bardi's bed. He lighted and held a match over the bed and saw Bardi lying there with his throat slashed from ear to ear.

Trely rushed downstairs and notified Mrs. Chisna, who called the police. The police arrived on the scene in a few minutes. The man was rushed to the hospital where Dr. Bert Garver gave him medical attention.

Had Evil Dreams.
In statement to a Chronicle-Telegram representative, Mrs. Chisna, Bardi told how Bardi had been frightened by evil dreams for the past several nights. In the dreams Bardi said, two men were constantly chasing him in an effort to put him in a dungeon. He had said early in the evening that he would stop the dream last night.

LESS WATER BEING PUMPED AT STATION ACCORDIC TO REPORT
ELYRIA, Feb. 12.—Service Director H. A. Beck is in receipt of the following report from the waterworks pumping station for the month of January, which will prove of interest to those who are in favor of municipally owned plants.

Considerably less water was pumped during the past month, as compared with January 1920, due to the fact that local manufacturing plants are not operating as extensively as they were a year ago.

The following figures are submitted by Chief Engineer Miller of the pumping station.

Total amount of water treated during January 88,866,000 gallons.

Witness Gives His Version of Battle striking miners and their families on the day of the battle.

He said he had a rifle and revolver, both loaded, on the "eviction trip."

"Why did you load your rifle and revolver?" asked J. J. Conniff, examining the witness.

"I thought I might need it—somebody might take a shot at me."

By "somebody," he said he meant miners.

The state showed its hand on the eviction issue early in the examination. Capt. Avis announced the prosecution had twenty-five authorities to prove full legality of eviction proceedings as conducted by the detective on the day of the battle. The state made it plain that its contention on the eviction question is based on the "master-and-servant" relation between land lord and tenant.

Under this unwritten rule a tenant can be evicted by his landlord just as an employee is "fired" by his employer.

A tilt between J. J. Conniff, of counsel for the defense, and Capt. S. B. Avis of the state, culminated the hearing. Captain Avis had interrupted Conniff's examination of the witness, and Conniff was on his feet to protest. "Mr. Avis had no right now or at any time to say anything to the witness or me, as to whether or not a statement was true or not. Now, let's have an end of this. The witness can take care of himself.

Avis retorted that Conniff had made an assertion to the witness instead of asking a question. McDowell told substantially the same story that Tom Felts, head of the detective agency, told the International News Service several days ago.

Twenty percent of the entire area of Madagascar is covered with forest. Arabs have exceptional memories.

From Rail Splitter to President of the United States

Incidents in the Life of Abraham Lincoln as Told in Pictures

The Story of a Human Achievement Under the Constitution

Abraham Lincoln as a Rail Splitter

ABRAHAM LINCOLN was a great rail splitter. Dennis Hanks a friend of Lincoln's youth said speaking of the boy's strength: "My how he would chop! His axe would flash and bite into the sugar-tree or sycamore, and down it would come. If you heard him fellin' trees in a clearin' you would say that there were three men at work, the way the tree fell!" When Lincoln was nominated for the Presidency and many times during the campaign rails which Lincoln split were carried about to evoke enthusiasm. Lincoln declared that he could not say that he split the particular rails on exhibition but that he split many just as good.

IN 1830 Lincoln's father sold his Indiana farm and decided to make his home in Illinois. After Abraham had visited his neighbors and bade them goodbye, and after a final visit to his mother's grave, the household goods were loaded, the oxen yoked, the family got into the covered wagon, and Lincoln took his place on the team to drive. One of the neighbors has said of this incident: "Well do I remember the day the Lincolns left Indiana. Little did I think that I was looking at a boy who would one day be President of the United States."

The Lincoln Family Moving from Indiana to Their New Home in Illinois—Abraham Lincoln as Driver

IN thirty-one years from the time of this memorable trip, Lincoln was inaugurated President of the United States at the darkest hour of his history. He thus closed his inaugural address: "I am not to close. We are not enemies but friends. We must not be enemies. Though passion may have strained, it must not break our bonds of affection. The mystic chords of memory, stretching from every battlefield and patriot grave to every living heart and hearthstone all over this broad land, will yet swell the chorus of the Union, when again touched, as surely they will be, by the better angels of our nature."

Lincoln Delivering Inaugural Address

LINCOLN was re-elected President in November, 1864, and began his second term March 4th, following. His second inaugural address ended with the following famous lines: "With malice toward none, with charity for all, with firmness in the right, as God gives us to see the right, let us strive on to finish the work we are in; to bind up the nation's wounds; to care for him who shall have borne the battle, and for his widow and for his orphan; to do all which may achieve and cherish a just and lasting peace among ourselves and with all nations."

Lincoln Makes Farewell Address to His Neighbors

"MY friends, no one, not in my position, can appreciate my feeling of sadness at this parting. To this place and the kindness of these people, I owe everything. Here I have lived a quarter of a century, and have passed from a young man to an old man. Here my children have been born and one is buried. I now leave not knowing when or whether ever I may return with a task before me greater than that which rested upon Washington. Without the assistance of that Divine Being who ever attended him I cannot succeed. With that assistance, I cannot fail. Trusting in Him who can go with me, and remain with you, and be everywhere for good, let us confidently hope that all will yet be well."

Born February 12, 1809 Died April 15, 1865

Lincoln was Famous as a Story-Teller

Lincoln and the Constitution
"LET every American, every lover of liberty, every well-wisher to his posterity swear by the blood of the Revolution never to violate in the least particular the laws of the country, and never to tolerate their violation by others. As the patriots of Seventy-six died to support the Declaration of Independence, so to the support of the Constitution, and laws, let every American pledge his life, his property, and his sacred honor—let every man remember that to violate the law is to trample on the blood of his father, and to tear the charter of his own and his children's liberty. Let reverence for the law be breathed by every American mother to the lisping babe that prattles on her lap; let it be taught in schools, in seminaries, and in colleges."

Lincoln as Postmaster of New Salem

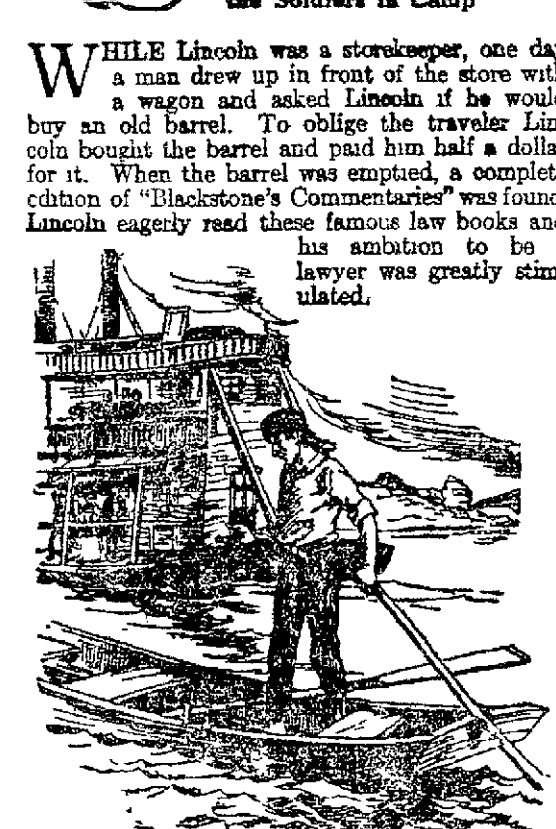

WHILE keeping store Lincoln was appointed postmaster. A large number of the patrons of the New Salem post office lived in the country—many of them miles away—but generally Lincoln delivered the letters at their doors. These he would carefully place in the crown of his hat, and distribute them from house to house. Thus it was in a measure true that he kept the New Salem post office in his hat.

Lincoln Earns His First Half Dollar

LINCOLN had just built a small boat to take produce to New Orleans when a steamer was going down the river. Two men with trunks came down to the shore in carriages and looking at the different boats, asked Lincoln to take them and their trunks out to the steamer as there were no wharves at that time. The trunks were put in the boat, the passengers seated themselves on them, and Lincoln sculled them out to the steamer. After the travelers were on deck and the steamer ready to steam out, each of them took from his pocket a silver half dollar and threw it on the bottom of Lincoln's boat. Lincoln said afterwards, "I could hardly believe my eyes as I picked up the money."

Lincoln's Gettysburg Speech
"FOURSCORE and seven years ago our fathers brought forth on this continent a new nation conceived in liberty, and dedicated to the proposition that all men are created equal. Now we are engaged in a great civil war, testing whether that nation, or any nation so conceived and so dedicated, can long endure. We are met upon a great battlefield of that war. We have come to dedicate a portion of that field as a final resting-place of those who here gave their lives that that nation might live. It is altogether fitting and proper that we should do this. But in a larger sense we cannot dedicate, we cannot consecrate, we cannot hallow this ground. The brave men, living and dead, who struggled here, have consecrated it, far above our poor power to add or detract. The world will little note or long remember what we say here, but it can never forget what they did here. It is for us the living, rather, to be dedicated here to the unfinished work which they who fought here have thus far so nobly carried on. It is rather for us to be here dedicated to the great task remaining before us, that from these honored dead we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom; and that government of the people, by the people, for the people shall not perish from the earth."

Lincoln Studying the Constitution of the United States

AMONG the books that fell into young Lincoln's hand when he was about eighteen years old was a copy of the "Revised Statutes of Indiana." This book contained the Constitution of the United States and the Declaration of Independence. The reading and study of these two documents made a profound impression on the mind of young Lincoln.

Lincoln as a Farm Hand at 25 Cents a Day

IN the summer of 1830, Lincoln exercised the right of majority and started out to shift for himself. When he left his home he went empty-handed. He was already some months over twenty-one years of age, but he had nothing in the world, not even a suit of respectable clothes.

IN New Orleans for the first time Lincoln beheld the true horrors of human slavery. He saw negroes in chains—whipped and scourged. One morning while Lincoln and his companions were rambling over the city they passed a slave auction. A vigorous and comely mulatto girl was being sold. She underwent a thorough examination at the hands of the bidders; they pinched her flesh, and made her trot up and down the room like a horse, to show how she moved, and in order, as the auctioneer said, that "bidders might satisfy themselves whether the article they were offering to buy was sound or not." The whole thing was so revolting that Lincoln moved away from the scene with a deep feeling of "unconquerable hate." Bidding his companions follow him, he said, "Boys, let's get away from this. If I ever get a chance to hit that thing (meaning slavery) I'll hit it hard."

The Killing of Lincoln's Grandfather by an Indian

ONE day when the grandfather, Abraham Lincoln, and his son Thomas, the father of the future President, were working in the field, they were suddenly attacked by Indians. Thomas Lincoln's two brothers, Mordca and Josiah, were near by at the forest. Mordca, startled by a shot, saw his father fall, and running to the cabin seized the loaded rifle, rushed to one of the loopholes cut through the logs of the cabin, and saw the Indian who had fired. The Indian had just caught the boy Thomas, and was running toward the forest. Pointing the rifle through the logs and aiming at a medal on the breast of the Indian, Mordca fired. The Indian fell, and springing to his feet the boy ran to the open arms of his mother at the cabin door; thus the life of Thomas Lincoln was saved to become the father of the immortal Abraham Lincoln.
